

H1N1 Vaccine Location Information

Information updated weekly

Last Updated: 10/30/09

H1N1 vaccine distribution continues to be affected by shipping delays at the national and state level. Public Health continues to deliver to our local community partners, but vaccine is in very limited supply locally. To date, 15,200 doses have been distributed to Lane County.

Who Can Get Vaccinated

The following groups of people should receive H1N1 immunization as soon as it is available:

- Pregnant women
- Children and young adults from age 6 months through 24 years of age
- Household members and caregivers of babies under 6 months of age
- Adults ages 25 through 64 with certain chronic health care conditions such as diabetes, asthma, or neurological conditions
- Health care workers
- Front line law enforcement and public safety workers

Once those people at highest risk for complications from H1N1 influenza are vaccinated, it is anticipated that the CDC will recommend immunization for the general population.

Where to Get Vaccinated

This week vaccine is available at the following Community Vaccination Sites. No vaccine has been distributed to Doctors and Clinics. Check back often for updates.

Community Vaccination Sites

The following is a list by date of community vaccination sites. If you do not have a regular health care provider, community vaccination sites are where you can get a H1N1 vaccine in Lane County. See times and locations listed below. We are working with many community partners to provide vaccination clinics through a variety of settings.
