Where woman's body found

The charred body of an unidentified young woman was found by firemen Wednesday morning when they were called to extinguish a blaze which engulfed the rear of this station wagon in a trailer court on the south edge of Junction City. Police say they now believe the girl was a murder victim and the same person witnesses saw being attacked by a man about five blocks from the fire scene approximately a half hour before the 4:45 a.m. fire. Story, Page One.
